FLIGHTS for SITES

With our Flights for Sites program, a site visit to Amelia Island fits your budget! You can tour meeting properties on the island and potentially be reimbursed for your airfare or mileage if your program meets a minimum cumulative guest room nights and food and beverage spend quota.* Prior to your arrival, let your sales representative at your choice property know you are interested in the Flights for Sites program. Visit Amelia Island now and get inspired!

Terms and conditions apply. Airfare may be reimbursed up to $500 USD and mileage up to 870 miles at the current IRS rate of 57.5 cents per mile for a planner with a qualified program with a minimum 150 cumulative room nights and $7,500 in food and beverage spend. Qualification for this program must be confirmed in advance by the property's sales representative and the Amelia Island Convention & Visitors Bureau (AICVB). Not valid on previously booked airfare or past site visits or programs. Planners may only submit for reimbursement to one property per visit for one meeting planner. For more information, talk with your sales team.*

Sand dunes. Southern charms.

See how Florida does southern hospitality on Amelia Island. Your attendees can regroup amid an abundance of wide-open spaces, from the shoreline settings of The Ritz-Carlton, Amelia Island and Omni Amelia Island Resort to the colorful gardens and courtyards of the island's Victorian B&Bs. And when the breakout room is a poolside spot at one of the island's full-service hotels like Courtyard by Marriott, Springhill Suites by Marriott, Hampton Inn & Suites, or Residence Inn Amelia Island, everyone will feel inspired.

Explore Egans Creek Park, offering a variety of settings for meeting and teambuilding. Then make history with an outing at the 1,400-acre Fort Clinch State Park, where Civil War-era cannons, 360-degree views and magnificent live oaks compete for attention.

Break out. Breathe in.

When the lanyards come off, free time provides the perfect opportunity for attendees to unplug and recharge as they experience the playful side of Amelia Island.

BEACHES & NATURE

Situated on the Atlantic Ocean, Amelia Island offers your attendees endless adventures, from leisurely walks on the sand to hiking nature trails, as well boating, fishing, kayaking and stand-up paddleboarding.

HISTORIC DOWNTOWN

The Island's Victorian seaport village of Fernandina Beach includes a 50-block national register historic district plus shops, eateries and watering holes.

COASTAL CUISINE

Diverse dining options range from international flavors to our local shrimp, freshly caught and exquisitely prepared. Whether attendees are in the mood for fine dining or they prefer a flip-flop atmosphere, palates are sure to be pleased.

CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF & SPORTS

Take a swing under moss-draped oaks or near stunning ocean vistas. Amelia Island is well-known as a premiere golf destination with 99 holes on championship-caliber courses. Explore world-famous tennis facilities and other sporting and paddle fun, including pétanque. We're home to the biggest pétanque tournament in the Americas!

SHOPPING

An eclectic mix of shopping around the island features local shops, art galleries, and delightful clothing and housewares stores.

SPA & WELLNESS

Take your pick of locations offering nature-based therapies, mani-pedis, yoga classes and professional treatments designed to relax and renew.

Easily accessible. Always welcoming.

The moment your attendees step onto this quaint barrier island, they'll feel a world away.
The remarkable part is it was a breeze to get here.

ARRIVE BY AIR

Jacksonville International Airport (JAX) — just 30 miles from Amelia Island — offers flights to and from a large number of U.S. cities aboard major and regional airlines, including Allegiant Airways, American Airlines, Delta, Frontier Airlines, JetBlue, Silver Airways, Southwest and United Airlines. Meanwhile, Fernandina Beach Municipal Airport serves corporate and private airplanes and jets.

ARRIVE BY CAR

Amelia Island is a picturesque hideaway that's easily reachable by major southeast U.S. cities from I-95. When your meeting is in a drivable destination, your attendees have the option of convenience and freedom.

GETTING AROUND THE ISLAND

On Amelia Island, you're never more than 15 minutes from where you want to go. Take a short drive to dinner, shopping and more. Bicycles are available as well, so you can slow down and soak up every moment. Many enjoy taking the scenic route and exploring our historic, tree-lined downtown on foot. Or go untraditional and explore the island on a horse, a scooter or something in between.
